Small class sizes will hold in early grades, but not in 4-12

• Washington Unified will allow about 32 pupils per teacher in fourth through 12th grade classes, as part of a strategy for dealing with money woes

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Facing money troubles, West Sacramento's school district will hold the line on small class sizes in grades kindergarten through third grade, superintendent Stu Greenfeld said yesterday. But the district will employ fewer teachers overall and allow the number of pupils in each higher grade classroom to go from around 28.5 to 32 on average.

"We're very fortunate in that we're maintaining 'class size reduction' in kindergarten through third," said Greenfeld, the soon-to-retire chief of Washington Unified School District. "But in grades four through twelve, we will be raising the average class size."

The state's class size reduction program for grades K-3 calls for a maximum of 20 students per class on average, which WUSD will maintain in those grades during the coming year.

Greenfeld added that the district expects more pupils next year – so instead of laying off all 19 teachers who received layoff notices, it will only lay off about eight or nine.

Without the budget troubles, though, "we probably would have added about eight to ten teachers to maintain our current class sizes and meet the needs of new enrollment."

Will the larger class sizes in upper grades impact kids' education?

"In terms of student achievement, I think the impacts will be negligible," said Greenfeld. "In terms of teacher workload, the impact is going to be greater because as a teacher, you want to stay on top of a student's progress or lack of progress. You're going to have to work a little harder to stay on top of everything."

Like other California school districts, WUSD is seeing its funding slowed by a California government facing recession and dwindling revenues. The district also just scheduled a small raise for its teachers, following a bitter fight by the teachers' union over its contract and lack of a raise for two years.

Mostly, the solution is to improve the state's financial situation, said the superintendent.

"We've got to turn our economy around," said Greenfeld. "And politically, we've got to increase the priority of education in this state as far as spending. We're currently either 26th or 29th in the nation in terms of per capita spending per student in K-12 education, depending on whose statistics you use. We need to develop a higher priority for education."

He added that the city of Davis has a parcel tax in place to help augment that city's school funding.

"We may need to look at a parcel tax in the future," said Greenfeld.

And he said that he has just asked the city of West Sacramento to help out in one small way – by picking up the $80,000 annual cost of paying for crossing guards for kids going to school.

"At one time, the city provided crossing guards, but then the city had a budget crisis and the district picked up the cost," he said.

That $80,000 could cover the cost of salary and benefits of about 1.5 to two teachers, said Greenfeld.

Strolling down a very fast Memory Lane

On Saturday, the West Capitol Raceway alumni and hundreds of local well-wishers gathered at the former site of the old West Capitol Raceway, near the west end of West Capitol Avenue, to dedicate a historical monument honoring those who race at the track for nearly 35 years.

A number of the old cars were on display (above, right). Also on hand were some of the brave former drivers.

At right sit Nora McDowell, Mary Sesserago, Jane Jenkins and County Supervisor Mike McGowan, whose father operated the raceway for many years.

Plan for governor's residence on track

Mayor says state board gave positive response to city's plan for levee

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

West Sacramento got what it needed from the state's reclamation board on Friday, said Mayor Cabaldon. Efforts will continue to address flood concerns standing in the way of a proposal to put a future California governor's mansion and state park on 43 acres now owned by West Sacramento on the Sacramento riverfront across from the mouth of the American River.

"What happened (at the board meeting) Friday was precisely what was intended," Cabaldon stated. "We had hoped that the board would send some clear signals that the redesign of the levee boundary would be a viable strategy for addressing their concerns. . . The board members expressed a great deal of support for that proposal."

The proposal of moving the levee to the outside of the governor's residence site was not an "action" item on the board's agenda. But Cabaldon said proponents of the idea needed to hear from reclamation board members that the idea appeared to address their flood policy concerns regarding construction near the river. With those informal comments, he said, the city and the other parties involved can now go ahead with the engineering portion of the plan.

This Friday, the state's public works board will have a chance to accept the city's donation of property for the governor's residence and park or extend the agreement to accept it in order to allow the levee plan to win approval. It could also kill the deal.

"Our expectation is that they'll choose one of the first two options," said the mayor.

Also involved in the negotiations is a private foundation formed to raise money for the future governor's residence.

Photos: and the winners are...

Are you one of the nearly 500 people anxiously awaiting the results of the West Sacramento "15 Days in May" photo contest?

The West Sacramento City Council will open its meeting next Wednesday, June 18, with a presentation of the contests winners, displayed on a projection screen.

Art Schroeder of the city manager's office reports that the contest received a record 491 entries – including about 300 delivered to city hall on the final day of the contest. The most popular categories included a category for residents age 18-55, a category for residents under 18, and a category for non-residents. But entries in other categories increased as well, said Schroeder.

Photo subjects included the Tower Bridge, Metro Place at Washington Square development, the new civic center, and pets and flowers. Also much-photographed was a rare "double rainbow" that visited the city on May 8.

The contest was sponsored by the city along with the West Sacramento Press, Carwen Printers and the News-Ledger.

After the June 18 awards ceremony, winning photos will go on display for the remainder of the month at the civic center's second floor, 1110 West Capitol Avenue. They'll also be posted on the city's web site, www.ci.west-sacramento.ca.us.

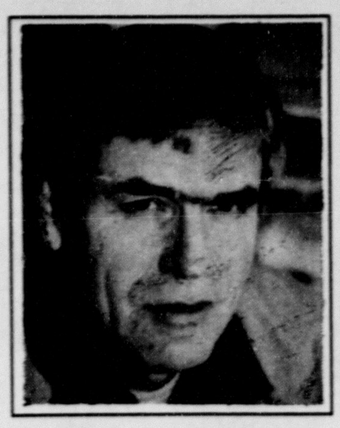
Remembering Emile 'Whitey' Boisclair

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

Note: For countless young men and women who spent their youth growing up in West Sacramento (including me), the place to hang out after school and in the evenings was Whitey's Jolly Kone on Jefferson Boulevard. Its owner and operator, Whitey Boisclair, made everyone of every age feel welcome, and best of all, he was in possession of the most tasty and inexpensive burgers, fries, and shakes in town.

When you're a teenager, it seems like you're always thirsty, hungry, and pretty close to broke, and at Whitey's Jolly Kone, you could be all three and still have a great time with your friends. Best of all, Whitey liked his customers just as much as they liked him, and being truly friendly to everyone was just part of his generous nature.

Last week, Whitey passed away after years of struggling bravely with his health, and for all of us who remember his warm smile and his genuine love of others, he will have a special place in the memories of our youth. The following interview, which I did with Whitey in 1998, is reprinted below in his memory:

Emile Boisclair is the name his French-Canadian parents gave him, but everyone in West Sacramento knows him simply as Whitey.

"When I was growing up back in Rhode Island," explained Whitey, "some old bricklayer I knew began calling me Whitey for no particular reason and somehow it stuck. At the time I didn't even have white hair, but the name ended up following me all the way out to California."

During the early years of World War Two, Whitey was stationed at nearby Camp Kohler and immediately fell in love with the Sacramento area.

"When the war was finally over," said Whitey, who also served overseas in New Guinea, "I came back to Sacramento and got a job working for National Ice and Cold Storage. Back in those days, lots of people still had ice delivered to their homes. If I remember right, a 25-pound block of ice cost 35 cents, and a 100-pound block was 75 cents. But I knew peddling ice was a job without much of a future and what I really wanted to do was to be a sheet metal worker. Luckily, I got hired as an apprentice by a company called J.H. Mendenhall and by the 1950s, I was pretty good at my trade."

The 1950s also saw the growth of Whitey's family.

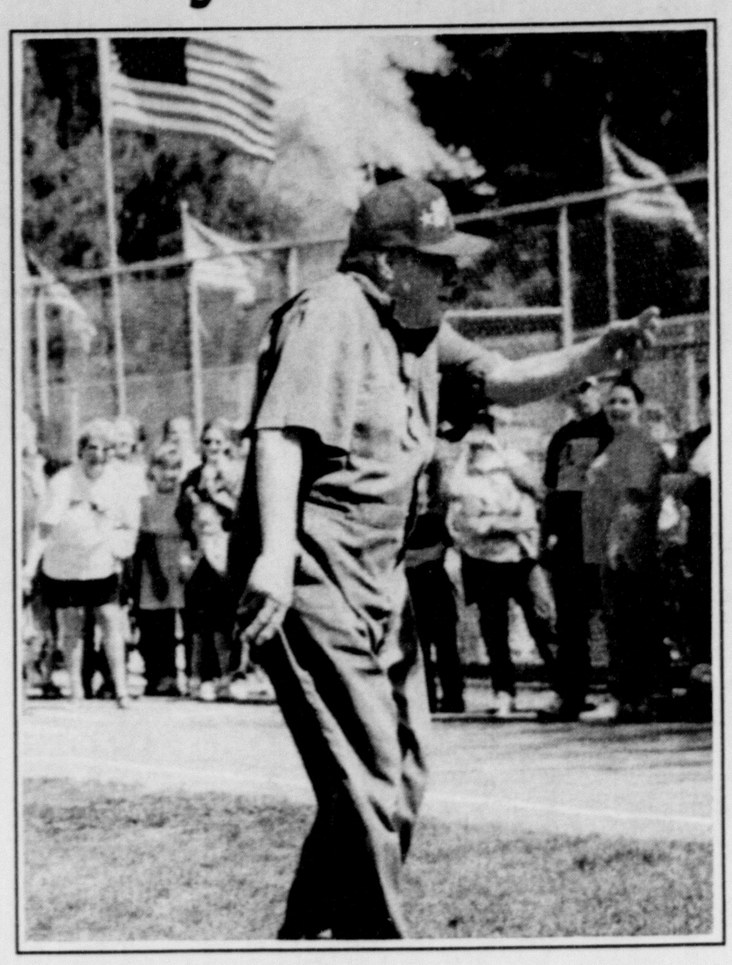
"I have four great children," explained Whitey. "There's Arthur, Debbie, Daina and Paula, and I'm proud to say they all still live in West Sacramento."

Whitey ended up settling down in West Sacramento because B.F. Williams, a friend of his who still lives here, bought a house in this area and encouraged Whitey to do likewise.

"A brand new house only cost $12,500 back then," said Whitey, "and I purchased one over on Deerwood Street. Right from the start I liked West Sacramento and nothing has ever happened to change my mind."

What really changed Whitey's life, though, was a visit to Dr. Gaing Chan's local doctor's office in 1963.

"I hadn't been feeling so good," explained Whitey. "Mostly it was a problem with my equilibrium, and I couldn't climb a ladder or do a number of other things my job required. Anyway, after Dr. Chan examined me, he told me I needed to change jobs. It's kind of hard to start all over again when you're 43-years old, but that's what I decided to do."



'Whitey' Boisclair tosses out the first pitch for West Sacramento Little League, in this scene from the league's opening day several years back Against the advice of just about everyone he knew, Whitey borrowed $10,000 from his boss, another $10,000 from Wells Fargo Bank, and bought Pop's Frosty on the corner of Jefferson Boulevard and 13th Street.

"The first day I was there," said Whitey, "I think we made all of $15. It was obvious we needed to change the menu and I also made sure we started using only genuine, fresh ingredients. I was very lucky that my first wife, Dorothy, was an outstanding cook. Plus Mrs. Valencia taught her how to make taco meat and chili the correct way. Anyway, it wasn't long at all before we had the place turned around and headed in the right direction."

Over the years, Whitey's Jolly Kone has become a West Sacramento landmark.

"People come from as far away as Davis and Roseville to eat at the Jolly Kone," said Whitey with pride. "I have always tried to keep it simple. Serve quality, fresh food and give the customer the best price and service you can. And the fact that three generations of my family have helped make the Jolly Kone what it is gives me a very good feeling."

Whitey finally retired from the fast food business about six years ago and his daughter, Paula, and her husband, Steve, now own and operate Whitey's Jolly Kone.

"Paula has a really great head for business," said Whitey, "and Steve is one of the hardest working people you'll ever meet. They're doing a great job, and a couple of my grandchildren are working at the Kone, too. It's nice to know that everything is in good hands."

Whitey is enjoying his retirement, but he still misses going to work each day.

"Mostly I miss seeing the customers," said Whitey. "I'm a people person, and talking to the customers was always fun for me. I can't tell you how many wonderful people I met at work. And most of our customers are very loyal. Many of the same people have been coming to the Kone for years and years. Having great customers always made going to work fun for me."

One of Whitey's fondest memories of the Jolly Kone is the day his second wife, Maxine, came in to get something to eat.

"The minute I saw her," said Whitey, "I wanted to stretch out one of those long nets and pull her in to be my wife. She's been such an important part of my life and I wouldn't know what to do without her."

"The whole family is extremely proud of Whitey," said Maxine. "He's a very talented man who has accomplished a lot with his life. Not everyone in their 40s can start all over again like he did. He's earned his success and he's a great example of what hard work and dedication can accomplish."

If Whitey's health hadn't started giving him a few problems, he'd probably still be working at the Jolly Kone.

"I had some by-pass surgery," said Whitey, "and then some bladder cancer and a stroke, and all that slowed me down a bit. Plus my feet are shot

David Trussell

"O.K. When I was purchasing my home, I kind of remember someone talking about supplemental taxes, but in the excitement of things at the time, I don't remember. Now I have another tax bill called "Supplemental Taxes." Can you clear this up?"

Supplemental taxes were enacted to require the tax assessor to appraise property on the date a change in ownership occurs, or new construction is completed.

Taxes are computed from the 1st of the month following the change, to the end of the fiscal year. In most cases, this assessment results in one -- or possibly two -- supplemental tax bills being sent to the property owner in addition to the regular secured property tax bill that is mailed annually. Property taxes are issued twice per year, and when there is a change in ownership the assessor appraises the property to determine the new base year value as of the date of change of ownership. Then they calculate the difference between the new base year value and the existing tax roll value. The result is a change in value that will result in a change in taxes that will result in a "NOTICE OF SUPPLEMENTAL ASSESSMENT AND IMPENDING TAX BILL."

What it really is is the difference between what the seller paid in property taxes up to the date of transfer of title and recalculated from the assessor to the new tax base. More times then not, that value has increased and you will usually pay supplemental taxes. The longer the seller owned the property the potential in a higher amount of a supplemental tax bill. If you have impounds, those tax figures are based on the actual tax roll of the time purchase and will be paid by your lender. If you receive a supplemental tax bill, you will usually only have to pay them once then the tax bill is caught up with where it should be.

Your mortgage company usually will not pay any supplements; so if you receive this notice do not assume your lender will pay them.

As homeowners, we have become accustomed in tossing advertisements away. However during your first year of home ownership, I always tell my clients to look carefully at everything that comes in the mail because there may be your supplemental tax bill. If you have additional questions we are always here to answer you call.

SPORTS INSIDER

By Rich Novoa

NBA Finals

The New Jersey Nets and San Antonio Spurs are putting local basketball fans to sleep with their slow pace, no-name defense and just plain ugly basketball. The Spurs lead the series 2 games to 1 but local TV rating are down. The good news so far for the Nets is they finally managed to stop their nine-game losing streak in the finals. The Nets had better give 7-foot-2 Dikembe Mutombo some more playing time or it's curtains. The four-time NBA defensive player of the year is their only hope to win the title. Somebody has to slow down the league's MVP, Tim Duncan!

Nobody can really stop Duncan, not even Shaq, but a big man like Mutombo can change the whole defensive strategy for the Nets.

The NBA best-of-seven series continues in New Jersey on Wednesday and Friday night after the city celebrates the Stanley Cup victory by the Devils. Can the City of New Jersey win both championships?

If they do, Jason Kidd better round up his troops and win the next two games in Jersey or the Nets will go down in history as back to back losers and Mr. Kidd will pack up his bags and move on to greener pastures next season.

Major League Baseball

The Giants are still hanging on to first place after sweeping their three game series against the Detroit Kittens. The Tigers aren't even fun to watch, they should be playing Triple A baseball against the River Gatos in the Pacific Coast League. The G-Men maintain their 5 game lead over the Dodgers but their young pitching staff is still getting rocked. The Giants will continue there inter-league schedule this week on the road with three games in Chicago and another three game set in Kansas City.

The A's are in a bit of a slump after being swept by the Phillies and now trail the Mariners by eight games. The A's return to Oakland for a 12 game home stand starts with a three game set against the Braves and Expos followed by the Rangers and the Giants. The A's and Giants will tangle in the battle of the bay with a three game series starting June 20th. The first place Mariners on the other hand are on fire winning 11 out of their last 12 games.

NCAA Division I Track and Field Championships

The NCAA Track and Field Championships are coming to Hornet Stadium this week starting on Wednesday and ending the four-day meet on Saturday night. Over a 1,000 top collegiate track and field athletes will compete for the national championship.

Tickets are priced at $50, $40 and $25 in 4 day packages or either stop by or call the CSUS ticket office at 916-278-4323.

See ya next week!

WHITEY from p. 2

because of all the years I spent standing up, but I'm actually feeling pretty good now, and Maxine and I still cook up a pot of beans and some taco meat here at home most every day that gets served at the Kone. I definitely miss the place, but like I said earlier, it's in good hands with Paula and Steve, and I consider myself extremely lucky to have had the great life I've had."

Godspeed, Whitey.

Emile (Whitey) Boisclair

Longtime West Sacramento businessman Whitey Boisclair passed away on June 4, 2003. He was born on October 19, 1919 on a farm in West Warwick, Rhode Island to the late Esdras and Anna (Lussier) Boisclair. He was raised by his mother and devoted grandfather, Mathias Lussier, and as the eldest son, took the responsibility of helping support his family. He left school after grade 8 to work in the mills with his mother and in the produce business with his grandfather.

Whitey served his country during World War II in the Army Signal Corps with the 4025th Signal Service Battalion, serving first at Camp Kohler in Sacramento, then later in the Pacific Theatre in Hollandia, New Guinea. He was a lifetime member of VFW Post 8762.

Whitey returned to Sacramento after the war and became a journeyman sheet metal worker whose work was respected as top quality. Later he opened Whitey's Jolly Kone, which became one of West Sacramento's most successful businesses, still owned and operated by his family.

Whitey was very active in the West Sacramento community and took great pride in supporting Bobby Sox, Little League, and numerous other youth groups. He was also a member of the Men's Council of Our Lady of Grace School and helped raise funds to build the auditorium at the school.

Whitey was preceded in death by his first wife and dear mother of his children, Dorothy, and by his brothers, Leonard, Normand, and Roland. He is survived by his beloved wife of 21 years, Maxine (Smith) Boisclair; his precious sister, Tita Donovan of Rhode Island; his loving children, Arthur (Debra) Paulauski, Deborah Miner, Diana (Bob) Milling, and Paula (Steve) Ericson; his stepchildren, Bret Sealey of San Diego, James Stuthard of Kapolie, Hawaii, and George Stuthard, Charles Stuthard, and Lisa Stuthard of Sacramento; grandchildren Janice, Brandon, Mindy, Chad, Kevin, Jennifer, Leesa, Jason, Shawna, Anna, Kristin, Kourtney, Joshua and Tyler; and great grandchildren Emily, Corbin and Nathan. A piece of his life and legacy will be with all those who knew and loved him.

Friends and relatives attended a Recitation of the Rosary Sunday evening, June 8, at the River Cities Funeral Chapel in West Sacramento. A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated on Monday, June 9at Our Lady of Grace Catholic Church in West Sacramento. Interment was in South East Lawn Memorial Park in Elk Grove.

Beymer's landscape art visits the coast, brings you along

By Betty Fairbairn Sokolich

Beymer grew up in the San Joaquin Valley and memories of hot, dry summers and the relief from visits to the California coast are often the subject matter and inspirations for his work.

The landscapist currently exhibiting at the Arthur Turner Library is Dick Beymer. He was originally trained as a graphic designer. Only in the last few years since he retired from over 21 years as a counselor and administrator for Los Rio Community College has he had time to develop his great talent as a landscape artist. Beymer grew up in the San Joaquin Valley and memories of hot, dry summers and the relief from visits to the California coast are often the subject matter and inspirations for his work. He began to experiment with the watercolor medium under the primary influence of watermedia-collage artist, Gerald Brommer. The use of a variety of handmade oriental papers (washi) provides the textural qualities prevalent in his paintings. Some of his works also incorporate gouache and colored pencil to achieve the vision he wants.

On the Oregon coast are many lighthouses that are no longer needed with the present maritime communications. Although the lighthouse "Mukilteo" no longer functions to warn ships about the treacherous rocks nearby, Beymer paints it in the precise manner of his original training as a graphic artist, set in a loosely defined background of the ocean.

Another coast scene is the boat dock at Fort Bragg. "The Provider" waits to unload its catch of fish. The boat, dock, and buildings are clearly defined and the bay and entrance into the bay have a more abstract quality.

South of the Fort Bragg area are Bodega Bay and Bodega. A watercolor of a "Crab Shack" depicts Bodega Bay on an unusually bright sunny day with the dock and shack reflected in the deep blue of the water. "Bodega" shows the old picturesque town, hall and church buildings set in a lush pastoral scene enhanced by a flock of sheep munching away in the pasture adjacent to the buildings.

Beymer has several examples of his creative use of the integrated collage technique using the handmade paper to suggest patterns and forms. "Blue Gill", "Blue Moon", and "Blue Coast" have the subtle colors and textures that happen with the special paper and washes of watercolor.

Beymer also likes to travel and some of his paintings reflect that interest. "Burano", "Erin Ag", and "Lucerne" are three wonderful examples.

The exhibit runs through June and July, 2003, with a reception honoring the artist to be held on June 14th from 2-4 p.m. at the library. The public then has an opportunity to meet the artist and view the paintings.

PEACE from page one

are on display at the new International World Peace Rose Garden at the State Capitol Park in Sacramento.

The brief poems are inscribed on plaques at the garden near the state capitol.

At Evergreen Elementary School, sixth grade poets Kristi Ezernack and Shannon Poteet saw the following poem of theirs go on public display:

PEACE TO ME
We all make mistakes
And some we will regret
But war is not the answer to everyday life.
So think before you act
And the world you can change.

Another peace poem selected was by fifth grader Samantha Hertel of Southport Elementary School.

The garden, "dedicatated to women, children and families," is the project of International World Peace Rose Gardens, and is helped out by local sponsors.

West Sacramento's Port Engraving, of Sacramento Avenue, was commissioned to make the 34 aluminum "donor recognition plaques" at the site, along with the verses from area schoolchildren and about 200 "rose name plates" and dedication plates for park benches.

even more would be pictorial. The river site could then become part of the surrounding state park. Just leave the levee alone and, in the words of a Reclamation Board member, "From a policy standpoint, that development on the land side of the levee is better than on the water side."

I was told that prior to West Sac's proposal to donate land for the mansion, there were no plans for a mansion in Sacramento. Then suddenly several plans sprung up to keep the governor's home in Sacramento, for historical reasons, of course. In the finals with West Sac is one other proposal: Build the mansion three blocks from the state capitol on square block between O and P and between 12th and 13th. Tunnel walkway would allow even quicker access for the governor to and from his job. Advocates of this plan also suggest a "Camp David" type retreat for the West Sac site.

So while the downtown Sacramento site may make more sense to some, let's remember: (1) Loss of that square block of state parking; (2) Constant noise of light rail on two of four sides (compared to peace, quiet and the privacy of the Mother Nature site in West Sac; (3) With the state's $35 billion budget deficit, how can the state pass up West Sac's "no cost to the public" site proposal?

Again, let's just leave the levee alone, change plans for a mansion to be on the land side of the levee, and add floor (or raise/fill in land below) so that most pictorial views will be maintained. Such proposals should expedite approval for the West Sac Governor's River Mansion site.

Books Worth Reading

Looking For Miracles

(NAPS)—Twice in her lifetime hospital social worker Joelle D'Angelo has been the recipient of a miracle.

How she finds miracle number three is the story told in Cypress Point (MIRA Books, $6.50) by award-winning author Diane Chamberlain. Now available in paperback, the compelling story draws on Chamberlain's background as a medical social worker to create a memorable, moving page-turner.

Finding happiness is the miracle one woman desires in a new paperback, Cypress Point.

The first miracle in Joelle's life took place the day she was born, when she was saved by a woman with incredible healing powers.

The second miracle is that she's finally pregnant after struggling for years with infertility—but the father is her best friend's husband and he must never know.

This complex web of love and guilt brings her to a renowned healer, Carlynn Shire. Shire saved her life all those years before and can help her find the miracle of happiness.

Chamberlain's new novel, Kiss River will be available in hardcover in February.

Schools: a small step backwards

Ask any of the "powers that be" what the major challenges are facing the future West Sacramento, and they'll tell you that "improving the schools" is near the top of the list. There are of course obvious reasons why local kids ought to graduate as well-educated as possible. But good schools – and the region's perception that West Sacramento's schools are good – are key to the city's future for other reasons, too.

High-end employers, for example, look at a community's schools when considering whether to locate in the area. They know it will be easiest to attract and retain good people if they settle down in a community with good schools. And their arrival, in turn, raises a community's tax base and income level – which in turn attracts more businesses and opportunities, and so forth.

"Good schools" have been on West Sacramento's agenda for some time, and have become a topic of concern among both school district leaders and city leaders.

But right now, local schools are about to take a small step backwards.

Like schools in the rest of the state and much of the rest of the nation, local schools face budget cuts due to a poor economy and an over-extended state government. The schools of Washington Unified School District have to tighten their belts. Meanwhile, the district just agreed to give its teachers a raise, albeit a relatively small and long-coming one.

These circumstances help add up to the pending layoff of some local teachers even as the number of pupils grows. From the fourth grade on up, there will be more kids in each class (more students per teacher) next year. That means less attention from the teacher for each student.

This should concern West Sacramento. It interrupts progress in local schools.

Other communities face similar problems and similar layoffs, and have even gone so far as to begin raising private funds to help bridge the budget gap and support local schools.

What will West Sacramento do?

This issue should earn the focus of the community.

Letters to the Editor

Marshall Road won't get any better

An open letter to Mrs. Johnson, Jim and Teri Wycoff and all the other nice people who live on Marshall Road:

Save your breath. Save your time and effort for other things. The city will not, I repeat, will not, do anything about the traffic on Marshall Road. They only made the promise about the traffic to placate you folks until they got the houses built. Now that the houses are there they could care less about your problems with the traffic. They have a new constituency that they must pander to. The people in the new houses have a lot more votes than you do. If the city was truly concerned about the traffic on Marshall Road they wouldn't have so many streets that lead to it.

That feeble attempt at putting in a "gate" was a real joke! Also, if the city was really concerned about the safety issues in that area they would provide a fire station.

Mr. Dorton was correct (although his way of getting his point across was rather juvenile). It is a public street, and as such, anyone can drive on it. How they drive on it is another story. So as much as we may hate it, the traffic there and just about anywhere in Southport, will continue to get worse, not better. A "premier" city? I think not!

Graduation ceremony: let pros decide

I am having some difficulty understanding a June 4 letter to the editor. The writer states that "as a member of the WUSD board I listened as several parents and students came to the school board and asked for an exemption from the graduation requirements."

Deja vu, I had the same experience. It's a small world.

I remember that incident like it happened yesterday. I allowed my emotions to overrule common sense and logic, and made a decision to overrule teachers, counselors, principals and other professional River City High School staff. It was an emotional decision on my part to allow that student to graduate, with an almost total disregard of the assessments made by the professional staff charged with that responsibility. As a result of that decision, I then had to publicly apologize during a subsequent board meeting. Perhaps the writer of the June 4, 2003 letter will someday feel the need to do the same. Although his letter states that there is a bottom line to the discussion, I could not readily identify it.

Participation in graduation trips and ceremonies may only happen once in a lifetime, but we all know about it for twelve years before it happens. Finding religion on your deathbed will probably not guarantee you a place in heaven. Discovering that cutting classes and making very little effort in your education the week before the graduation trip or graduation, should not guarantee the trip or ceremony.

During my learning experience in May of 2000, I found that teachers, counselors, principals and countless other staff make many efforts to bring students and parents together in an attempt to solve the student's academic problems. These people know what they're doing so let them do it.

I can identify with Ms. Laura Carter. She may have been the one member of the board who should have remained on the board. I can relate to her frustration. If she decides to run in the next election, I'll want to be the first to walk the precincts for her.

Also, I may be wrong, but from my point of view, nothing has changed. The board says it's the city council's fault, and the council says it's the board's fault, and both say they are going to make the other fix the problem. I hope they still have ribbon left for committees. We still don't have the high school we needed years ago and that train is about to run this community over.

Our sister city is doing great

Our sister city in the Philippines, Alaminos, Panagsinan, is definitely a city on the roll. It is planning a new city hall and an outdoor market, and it recently was awarded first place and a substantial monetary prize by Philippine Present Arroyo for being the cleanest coastal municipality in the Philippines.

If you would like to learn more about our sister city in the Philippines (including photos) you can do so by going to www.alaminoscity.com on the Internet. Who knows, maybe someday we can even talk President Bush into visiting it.

Thoughts on the governor's mansion site

The June 6, 2003 State Reclamation Board meeting included testimony and discussion, but no final decision as to allowing a governor's mansion and park to be built across from where the American River merges with the Sacramento River in West Sacramento. And while building such a mansion on the river side of the levee was "according to code" when permits were taken out several years ago to build several waterfront homes, state codes have since been changed that no longer allows building on the river side, even though the site is still higher than the state capitol's land.

But rather than consider moving the levee, why not propose to build the governor's mansion west of the levee, since flood safety is the sticking point, and either add a floor to the mansion plan or, by excavation, build up the mansion site so that from the first floor up

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Shirley Mayer.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Shirley Mayer, be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Aug. 12, 2003, at 8:30 a.m. at Dept. 7 at Yolo County Superior Court, 725 Court St., Woodland, CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a "Request for Special Notice" (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A "Request for Special Notice" form is available from the court clerk.

If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

DINING, TRAVEL & ENTERTAINMENT

PORTS OF CALL

by Bethany Murray

Travel the Canadian Rockies in Style

It's hard to talk about the Canadian Rockies without using well-worn words like "majestic" and "breathtaking" — or try "YoHo," a Cree word for "awesome." And one of the best ways to let their majesty take your breath away is on a train trek winding through their splendor, in high style yourself, onboard the Royal Canadian Pacific.

You'll cruise through the Canadian Rockies buoyed by a fleet of early-1900s business and parlor rail carriages, courtesy of the Canadian Pacific Railway. These 80-foot-long, steel-constructed, Pullman-style cars were once the exclusive domain of CPR's senior managers and their guests (often royalty). Guest quarters now feature the restored elegance of those bygone days while providing the utmost in modern conveniences and comfort. Breakfast is a la carte, lunch a three-course meal, dinner five courses. Interpretive programs during the tours bring the beauty of the Rockies even closer. A lot of the time you'll find yourself just staring rapt out some window.

Probably the most popular Royal Canadian Pacific trip is the Golden-Crowsnest Excursion through Alberta and British Columbia. Highlights include: passing through Crowsnest, at the summit of the Rockies and on the border between Alberta and British Columbia; crossing the Continental Divide; excursions to towns like historic Fort Steele; the Kootenay River Valley, part of the Rocky Mountain Trench; the Purcell Mountains, to the west of the Rockies across the Trench; Invermere, B.C., overlooking Windermere Lake in the Columbia River Valley; and the famous Spiral Tunnels.

If food is truly the stuff of life to you, check out the Royal Culinary and Wine Experience. You'll spend four nights onboard the luxury train delighting in some of the most exquisite food and vintages around. All the while you're surrounded by the magnificent scenery that lines the route from Calgary to Vancouver, mountain to sea, and back again, with a final night at the Fairmont Palliser in Calgary. Interactive cooking demonstrations, wine tastings and individual consultations are among the epicurean delights of this trip.

If you'd prefer to travel in luxury but get personal with the beauty of the Canadian Rockies, the Mount Fairview Expedition should fit your bill. The train will carry you through the hard parts, then in Lake Louise you'll climb off and head to Mount Fairview with your guides to wander forests, avalanche slopes and verdant meadows. You also get a morning of hiking at Emerald Lake before heading back to Calgary and civilization. Even in the unspoiled beauty of this captivating wilderness, RCP is taking care of you, providing your snacks and lunch while you're away from the fold.

CRITIC'S CORNER

By D.N.A Smith

"The Matrix: Reloaded"

Running time: 138 minutes
MPAA rating: R

"The Matrix: Reloaded" is one of those critic-proof movies: A movie that everyone's gonna see regardless of what the reviews are. In fact, by the time you read this, "The Matrix: Reloaded" will have made so much money that the accountants at Warner Bros. will have had to invent new numbers to count it all.

Is "Reloaded" the greatest movie of all time? Not by a long shot. Is it a lousy movie? No, not really. But the movie does have moments of greatness separated by long lulls of pretentious, lumbering dialogue with all the intellectual weight of a fortune cookie.

The action sequences are awesome. The Wachowski Brothers have blown out all the stops to push the envelope of computer-generated effects. Most of the time they succeed, though there are a few moments where they fail; but I give them an "A" for effort on the action and SFX. The 18-minute freeway chase scene is worth the price of admission alone.

The biggest problem with the movie is the opening 40 minutes. It just draaaaaags on forever. It's like watching all those meetings in "The Phantom Menace"; it's just as boring, but at least the Matrix folk have more sensible shoes, which they use for dancing, apparently, since there is also a 10-minute rave scene. I have not the words.

Only after Neo (Keanu Reeves) meets with the Oracle and discovers his mission/destiny does the film kick into gear — and it rocks pretty hard for the remaining hour and a half.

The rest of the movie plays out like watching someone play a videogame really well. The heroes go from mission to mission and progress level-by-level until Neo eventually reaches the final conflict with The Architect of the Matrix. There he learns some surprising things (that I won't spoil for you) that set up the action for the final act, "Matrix: Revolutions," in November.

Keanu Reeves reprises his role as "Neo"

Ultimately, "The Matrix: Reloaded" is an uneven movie. It would've been better if there had been a lot less fortune cookie and more kung-fu.

TEST DRIVE

by Greg Zyla

2003 Honda Accord Sedan
Base price: $25,800
Price as tested: $26,260

Not too long ago, we test drove the 2003 Honda Accord performance coupe with the 260-horsepower i-6, 17-inch tires and wheels, and a six-speed transmission. The car was fabulous.

This week, we drive the 2003 Accord Sedan with a slightly less powerful V-6, automatic transmission and 16-inch tires and wheels. However, our results aren't much different than the performance model; both are fine road cars.

Since we probably won't test another Honda Accord this year, we must emphasize that although our top-of-the-line EX cost $26,260 delivered, economy-minded or college-bound buyers who need to save money can park a 2003 Accord DX in front of their home for only $15,800, complete with a less powerful four-cylinder engine and a five-speed manual transmission. You'll pay for most of the bigger options, but rest assured your DX will come equipped with a rear defroster, ABS, stereo with CD, front air bags, tilt and telescopic steering, and power windows. Air conditioning and other higher-end amenities are extra.

Our model, finished in a beautiful Graphite Pearl, is the top-of-the-line EX, one of three trim lines available (DX, LX, EX). Our EX featured standard items like a power moonroof, leather-trimmed seating, power adjustable and heated front seats, HomeLink system, fold-down rear seat with lock through to trunk, three-tiered front, side and curtain air bags, traction control and lots more. This is a fully loaded model, and the only extra from the base price is the $460 for destination.

Outwardly, a more athletic and aerodynamic design greets the consumer. Today's Accord is a much bigger car than previous generations, and when we parked it next to an Accord from the mid-'90s, the '03 is way bigger and shows no resemblance. The new Accord is sculptured more in an "Acura" style of presentation.

The V-6 Accord still delivers good fuel economy, with 21 mpg city and 30 mpg highway EPA ratings. These are impressive numbers considering the engine powering our EX Sedan pumps out 240 horsepower from its 3.0-liter design, only 20 horsepower less than the performance coupe.

Underneath, a front and rear double-wishbone with multi-link rear-suspension tweaking and stabilizer bars front and aft allow Accord to hug roads like a sports car. Regardless of where you drive, this Honda will react — and, we emphasize, favorably. When it comes to stopping, the four-wheel disc brakes are excellent, stopping us straight and true in three 65-0 mph stops without any fade whatsoever. As for passing, merging and accelerating onto freeways, it's simply an easy chore for this car.

The cabin is redesigned and finished properly. Taller drivers will appreciate wider and longer seats, making extended drives a joy. Rear passengers, too, will enjoy the new, roomier dimensions. The gauges are easy to read, the steering-wheel buttons can activate stereo and cruise controls, and temperature adjustment is a breeze for both passenger and driver, with centrally located buttons. The speedometer and other function gauges are progressive self-illuminating and in easy sight of the driver.

One minor aggravation is rain pouring into the driver's compartment when the window is actuated at a toll-gate or for some other reason. But overall, this interior still receives an "A," as it's quiet, comfortable and big in dimensions.

Important numbers include a wheelbase of 107.9 inches, curb weight of 3,360 pounds and a cargo capacity of 14 cubic feet. The fuel tank holds 17.1 gallons of regular unleaded gasoline.

Here's another 8.5 on a rating of 10 for a Honda vehicle. It's a winner.

THE CHOPPING BLOCK

by Philomena Corradeno

MUSHROOMS CAP MAIN-DISH SALAD

Are you getting your recommended 5 to 7 servings a day of fruits and vegetables? If not, it's too bad, because it's so easy to strive for this wholesome, healthful diet. Think of all the fruits and vegetables you can eat without cooking. It's simple if you include salads in the menu planning.

Make salad a main dish, a meal opener or closer. My mother always had salad to end our dinners. My father used to say it helped digestion. With wintry days behind us, we can push aside the stew and soup pots and make salad a part of lunch and dinner. Having a sandwich for lunch? Add lettuce and tomato, pickled peppers, a slice of avocado, cucumber or sautéed, marinated or raw mushrooms.

And speaking of mushrooms, they're a perfect addition to the salad bowl since they add not only distinctive taste but also a bonus in nutrition. Low in calories, they are cholesterol-free and have almost no fat or sodium. They add some B vitamins, potassium and selenium.

Add this Warm Mushroom and Chicken Salad to your menu. With its sautéed mushrooms and tarragon dressing, it has a pleasing blend of textures and flavors.

WARM MUSHROOM AND CHICKEN SALAD

- 12 ounces boned and skinned chicken breasts, cut in 1/2-inch strips
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 cups (about 8 ounces) peeled baby carrots
- 1 pound fresh white mushrooms, quartered
- 1/4 cup dry white wine
- 1 1/2 cups peeled and seeded sliced cucumbers
- *Tarragon Salad Dressing
- 4 cups Boston or bibb lettuce leaves

Sprinkle chicken with salt and black pepper. In large skillet over medium-high heat, heat oil until hot. Add chicken and carrots; cook, stirring frequently, until chicken is opaque but still pink, about 2 minutes. Add mushrooms; cook, stirring constantly, until mushrooms are softened, about 2 minutes. Stir in wine; cook 1 minute longer.

Using a slotted spoon, remove chicken and vegetable mixture to a serving bowl; set aside. Heat juices in skillet over high heat until reduced to 1 tablespoon, about 3 minutes. Pour over reserved chicken and mushroom mixture; cool slightly, about 5 minutes. Just before serving, add cucumbers and toss with Tarragon Salad Dressing (recipe follows). Serve over lettuce leaves. Makes 4 servings (6 cups).

*TARRAGON SALAD DRESSING

- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 3 tablespoons white wine vinegar
- 1 tablespoon light mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon tarragon leaves, crushed
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

In a small bowl combine oil, vinegar, mayonnaise, tarragon, salt and pepper. Makes 1/2 cup.

Fresh Blueberry Fool

The perfect end to a summer night's dinner. This simplest of fruit desserts can also be made with raspberries, kiwifruit, strawberries or peaches; just a few of the possibilities.

PREP: 15 minutes

- 1 pint blueberries
- 1/3 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1/8 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 cup heavy or whipping cream

1. Set aside about 3/4 cup blueberries. In large bowl, coarsely mash remaining blueberries. Stir in confectioners' sugar, cinnamon and reserved whole blueberries.

2. In small bowl, with mixer at medium speed, beat cream until soft peaks form. Gently swirl blueberry mixture into whipped cream to create marbled effect. Makes 4 servings.

• Each serving: About 182 calories, 1 g protein, 21 g carbohydrate, 11 g total fat (7 g saturated), 41 mg cholesterol, 16 mg sodium.

Outdoor Grilling

It's time to break out the grill, because barbecuing is easier than ever this summer. Good deals are available on food and preparation products designed to get you out of the kitchen and into the great outdoors.

Kraft Kitchens offers the following grilling tips:

— Brush on barbecue sauce in the last 15 minutes of cooking time to prevent the sugar in the glaze from burning.

— Marinades usually contain some sort of acid that helps tenderize the meat, in addition to ingredients that add flavor and oil that keeps the food moist. Beef should be marinated for about fours hours or overnight, poultry for about an hour and seafood for about 30 minutes.

Here are this week's coupon savings in grilling products:

• McCormick offers a 25-cent coupon on any Grill Mates Seasoning or Marinade. Expires Sept. 30.

• Save 50 cents on any Eckrich smoked sausage product. Expires July 31.

• Save 45 cents on any package of Hebrew National franks. Expires Aug. 31.

PETITION FOR WATER METERS MADE BY WATER & LIGHT CO.

The petition placed before the Railroad Commission by the Washington Water and Light Co. recites the reasons for the request in the following:

Broderick, Cal., March 2, 1920.
Railroad Commission of California,
San Francisco, Cal.
Gentlemen:

The Washington Water and Light Co. does herewith respectfully ask permission of the Railroad Commission of California, for the right to place meters, on such of its consumers who are using excessive amounts of water, for the irrigation of corn, alfalfa and other garden truck, and all other large consumers of water supplied by this company.

The principal consumers who we desire to meter are Mexicans, Italians, Portugese and other people of that order, who are great argiculturists and large users of water, who are using water at all hours of the day and night and who will not abide by the rules of this company, and as the monthly revenue is so small it is impossible to hire a watchman in addition to the engineer operating the plant.

So therefore, we are enclosing our application for permission to install meters as above stated, and trust that same is in order according to the rules of procedure of the Railroad Commission of California governing such applications.

Respectfully submitted,
Washington Water and Light Co.
By Joseph Shaw, Secretary.

In the matter of the application of the Washington Water and Light Co., a corporation, organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California, for permission to install meters for the purpose of serving various consumers of said company ,who are using excessive amounts of water, from the distribution mains of said company, for irrigation purposes, and all other purposes for which excessive water is used.

Application.

The petition of the Washington Water and Light Co. respectfully shows:

(1) That, Applicant is engaged in the business of selling water for domestic purposes, in the town of Washington, Yolo Co., California.

(2) That, the postoffice address of said Applicant is Broderick, California.

(3) That, Applicant is desirous of installing meters on the premises of such of its consumers who are using excessive amounts of water, for the irrigation of vegetables ,alfalfa and other garden truck ,and all other excessive users of water that may come to its knowledge from time to time, and that the rates for water used through such meters, be at the following rates, to-wit:

A monthly minimum payment of $1.25 for ⅝ or ¾ meters; $1.50 per month for 1 inch meters; $2.50 per month for 1½ inch meters; $3.00 per month for 2 inch meters, and $3.50 per month for 3 inch meters.

Quantity Rates.

25c per 100 cubic feet for the first 400 cubic feet or less.

20c per 100 cubic feet for the next 2400 cubic feet or less.

15c per 100 cubic feet for all water user over the above.

Wherefore, Applicant asks that the Railroad Commission of California, make its order authorizing Applicant to place meters on such of its consumers as described above, and at the rates as stated.

Dated at.....California, this.....day of....., 1920.

State of California, County of.....
.....—ss.

Joseph Shaw, being first duly sworn, deposes and says, that he is the Secretary of said Washington Water and Light Co., a corporation, the said applicant in the above proceedings entitled as above, that he has read the foregoing application, and knows the contents thereof, and that the same is true of his own knowledge, except as to matters which are herein stated on information and belief, and that as to those matters he believes to be true.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this.....day of....., 1920.

It seems funny that the Park Board of Sacramento is compelled to seek a landscape gardener in Santa Barbara.

Wouldnt' a Sacramento citizen do to fill the job?

IMPROVEMENT CLUB WILL PROTEST WATER METERS FOR PROPERTY OWNERS

RAILROAD COMMISSION WILL BE ASKED TO REFUSE PERMIT TO CORPORATION FOR INSTALLATION

By a unanimous vote of all members present at its meeting last Tuesday evening the Washington Improvement Club decided to enter a protest with the Railroad Commission against the installation of water meters for property owners within the town.

The secretary of the club was requested to write the commission asking for information concerning the date on which a hearing will be given and the club would appoint its representatives to be present to enter objections.

The opinions expressed at the meeting last Tuesday evening in this connection were anything but complimentary to the Washington Water and Light Company.

One lady said, "The service is poor at any time with little of it and while we use very little water in the winter we believe there should be no objection for using a supply plenteously during the summer."

Another lady said, "I think the rate is high enough now—$1.25—but if we get meters we may be forced to pay three or four or five dollars a month. I object and will get my own well water first."

Another lady said, "If a meter is installed the minimum to the property owner will be $1.25 per month, and no matter whether the property is rented or vacant that amount must be paid. I object and will willingly help to pay the expenses of delegates to appear before the Railroad Commission to enter protest."

It is reported on good authority that the franchise under which the Washington Water and Light Company operates is valueless and there is even a current rumor that another corporation will be formed to supply water if the existing corporation insists on installing meters.

There is no mistake in the temper of the people of Washington on this question. They oppose it strenuously and will go to considerable expense to prevent it.

The question of building a stairway at the north side of the S. P. bridge in the vicinity of the Railroad Hospital for the convenience of the working men of the town was discussed at length and a committee of two was named to interview the division superintendent on the matter.

Ex-Supervisor Palm and P. A. Fitzgerald were named on the committee. They promised to take immediate action and submit to the railroad authorities the reasonableness of the request.

A stairway at the head of the bridge was refused when the structure was in course of construction because the railroad company objected to the men crossing the switching tracks along the river bank. At the Railroad Hospital location no such difficulty prevails.

Another question this committee was asked to take up with the railroad authorities was that of the opening of the draw a long time before steamers passed through thus occasioning great delay to pedestrians on their way across the bridge.

The question of annexation to Sacramento was not discussed by the club last Tuesday evening but was postponed till a future occasion when more time would be at the disposal of the members.

NOT SALACIOUS BUT LEANING

Five billboards fencing a vacant lot in San Francisco carry the following theatrical advertisements:

"Should a Woman Tell?"
"Why Change Your Wife?"
"She Loves and Lies."
"The Other Wife."
"A Woman of Pleasure."

Across the street is a humble sign announcing night classes in the University of California extension department.

In San Francisco any man found in the company of a woman of questionable character will be placed under arrest.

Gee! Those club women will be forced to carry bonds in their satchels all the time.

ONLY ONE PROHIBITIONIST REGISTERED IN WASHINGTON

The disgust of the general public at the imposition of prohibition may be judged from the fact that only one person in this locality had the courage to register prohibition out of a total registration of 454.

It is a pity that the opposition to this obnoxious law was not made unanimous. The proportion against it is so great that the feelings of the people may be surmised from the showing.

Out of a total registration of 454 there are 199 Democrats, 237 Republicans, 5 Socialists, 9 declined to state, and 1 Prohibitionist.

Of the total Judge Barry registered 300, Constable Buckingham 109 ,and W. E. M. Beardslee 42.

There are many who have not registered yet but they cannot vote at the May primaries. The registrar mentioned above will continue to take names and voters should take advantage in order to participate in the fall elections.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO ADOPT A MITIGATED NEGATIVE DECLARATION

A Mitigated Negative Declaration has been prepared for the Southport McDonald's Co-Brand Facility in the City of West Sacramento at 2455 Jefferson Blvd. This Mitigated Negative Declaration has been prepared to address the potential environmental impacts of construction and operation of a gas station, car wash, convenience store, and McDonald's restaurant with a double drive-through lane. The convenience store and restaurant will co-locate in a 5,740 square foot building. The gasoline station will include four pump dispensers under an approximate 2,000 square foot canopy. The car wash will be a drive-through tunnel in an approximate 1,200 square foot structure. The proposed drive-through for the restaurant has a median island for the menu board and order equipment, which splits a portion of the drive-through into two order lanes. The project is located in the Mixed Use Zone where a drive-through restaurant is a conditional use. The proposed service station, car wash, convenience store, and sit-down restaurant are permitted uses.

The Mitigated Negative Declaration concludes that with the implementation of recommended mitigation measures, there will be no significant adverse impacts on the environment. Copies of the Mitigated Negative Declaration are on file in the office of the West Sacramento Community Development Department at 1110 West Capitol Avenue, 2nd Floor, West Sacramento, CA 95691 (916-617-4645).

Any affected or interested parties may submit comments to the Community Development Department no later than July 11, 2003. Any affected or interested parties may also appear at the July 17, 2003 Planning Commission meeting and comment on the Mitigated Negative Declaration and/or the proposed project.

The West Sacramento Planning Commission will consider adoption of the Mitigated Negative Declaration on July 17, 2003 in the City Council chambers located at 1110 West Capitol Avenue, West Sacramento, California, at 6:00 p.m., or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard.
